Start Using TRACtion on Day 1

TRACtion is designed for a one-day setup process that requires no programming. All you need to start is an internet connection, browser, and secure login.

An Affordable Solution with Flexible Pricing

TRACtion requires no capital investment for hardware. Our target for the cost of ownership over three years is 50% of the cost of licensing competitive, IT-intensive project tracking solutions.

TRACtion® is a Web-based project management and tracking software that provides a ready infrastructure to support Lean Six Sigma deployments.

Imagine instant access to your deployment's project database through a secure, easy-to-use, and integrated online tool. With TRACtion, you can manage teams, tell the boss when dollars will hit the bottom line, and link to world-class e-Learning. All this control, from any location at any time. Sound useful?

MoreSteam designed TRACtion to meet the demands of our many Lean Six Sigma customers. Offering a measured balance between power and simplicity, TRACtion provides the tools that management requires for project oversight and analysis, and that Belts need for storing and sharing critical project information.

Automate your Project Selection Process

Solicit and select your best projects. Facilitate how your team proposes and submits projects with TRACtion's Idea Submission Portal and Project Idea Hopper.

Manage your Tollgate Reviews and Financials

Implement workflow rules and responsibilities to ensure phase completion and standardization. Maintain and track your audited financials at the project and program levels.

Organize and Share Project Activities

Allow information sharing between Team Members, Belts, Process Owners, and Champions. View the project portfolio in summary fashion or drill down into the details for a specific project.

Develop and Distribute Reports

Use TRACtion's Report Wizard and Distribution system to e-mail up-to-date information to team members and deployment leaders.

Coordinate Projects with Training

Link project phases directly to MoreSteam's world-class training to take "just-in-time" learning to the next level.
